General Description

English majors focus on the study of language and literature. Majors explore and practice expository, argumentative, and creative writing as well as critical, analytical, and contextualized reading, with special attention to work in literary genres (fiction, nonfiction, poetry, drama) and the understanding of other imaginative cultural forms (such as film and graphic novels).

Career Options

Below is a sample of the career options available for the English major. A few of these require an associate in arts degree, most require a bachelor's degree, and some require a graduate-level degree: writer, poet, journalist, literary or film critic, high school or college instructor, film or television scriptwriter, lawyer, public relations person, technical writer, tutor, interpreter, writing consultant, methods analyst, program developer, grant writer, legislative assistant, civil servant, columnist, business administrator, and advertising agent.
